WATCH TODAY

written by Terry Parks

I can see storm clouds forming in the skies

Signs of sorrows fill my eyes from words said long ago

Looks to me, times foretold are on their way

Bringing in that promised day to end this night we know

History will draw its darkness to a close

In days of brightest hope for those

Who long for Christ's return

So join with me, looking for the dawn to break

Working for the Kingdom's sake

Don't sleep or lose your way

Watch today, hear Him say, "Watch today"

And I can see distant days of light and love

Christ descending from above, to reign on earth as King

Then there will be a time when nature shouts for joy

The Kingdom nothing can destroy

When trees and hills will sing

Can you see, this darkness that we've all lived in

Will disappear with every sin,

He'll wipe all tears away

Come join with me, looking for the dawn to break

And working for the Kingdom's sake

Don't sleep or lose your way

Watch today, hear Him say, "Watch today"

Can you see, this darkness that we've all lived in

Will disappear with every sin,

'Cause He'll wipe all tears away

So join with me, looking for the dawn to break

And working for the Kingdom's sake

Don't sleep or lose your way

Watch today, keep watch today

Hear Him say, "Watch today"
