HEAVEN IS WAITING

written by Dan Parks

Jackie and Joe had a little fight

Jackie was tryin' to make things right

She said, "Joe, I sure miss talking to you

We started out as lovers

Now we're barely even friends

How come the heartache never ends?"

But

Heaven is waiting

With angels anticipating

That you will seek

And find the love of God

Heaven is waiting

And though your heart is breaking

The Father's love

Isn't very far away

Gary had not seen his son in years

And one day he broke down in tears

He said, "Why, didn't I show him love when I could?

Now I'm afraid it's too late

Too late to make amends

How come the heartache never ends?"

But

Heaven is waiting

With angels anticipating

That you will seek

And find the love of God

Heaven is waiting

And though your heart is breaking

The Father's love

Isn't very far

Tom's keeping warm with the daily news

He hasn't got anything left to lose

He says, "How did I ever end up in this place?"

He looks up and sees the mission door

And prays that he can be strong once more, he says

"I heard Your mercies never end"

Heaven is waiting

With angels anticipating

That you will seek

And find the love of God

Heaven is waiting

And though your heart is breaking

The Father's love

Isn't very far away